To Our Daddy

I am happy to have had my very own superhero.

Love you Dad, Kyndal

Hi Daddy,

I miss you. Thank you for teaching, loving, and caring no matter what. I really hate that you're gone now but I guess it was time. I know it's going to be ok though because you didn't let me feel alone then and I know you won't now. I'll forever be your Boom and because of that I promise to accomplish everything we talked about. Don't you worry about us down here because there's a whole army of people that loved you. There're really no words to express how appreciative and grateful I am to say that you're my dad. I will forever cherish all the laughs and lessons that you have given me.

Thank you and I love you 1000x over Mr. Grinch.

~Raevyn

To The Love of My Life

When you read this, I hope that you feel the love and compassion I have as I am writing this to you.

I am so glad that you found me and held on. You are everything that I could ask for. You put so much of yourself in our family and not to mention mine.

The girls adore and respect you. I watch them with you, and it makes me smile on the inside. You are a perfect match for them. You give them what they need when they need it.

I thank you for that. I can only pray that they find a husband that resembles their father's characteristics.

For me.. thank you for loving me. Thank you for always having my back. Thank you for being my everything thing for almost 19 years. I look at you when you are not looking. Things never change.

I thank God for your 50 years of life. I hope and pray God will continue to bless you with many more years and continue to be a vessel in your life as you guide your family day to day.

I hope that your every dream and prayer come true for you if GOD says the same.

*I Love you more than Love itself.
Please keep loving me.*

*All my Heart
your Suzie*

*Happy 50th Birthday

Obituary

Richard,

Words cannot express the way that our hearts feel at this time. To speak on the impact that you've had on our lives would take a lifetime. You left a legacy of being honest, loving and straight forward. We will hold onto our memories and cherish our love until we meet again. We love you.

Richard James White Jr. was born November 18, 1966, and raised in Pittsburg, Texas by his loving mother, Annie Ruth White, and his father, Richard James White Sr., who preceded him in death.

He served in the National Guard and worked for Raytheon Technologies.

Richard graduated from Pittsburg High School where he met Veronica, his best friend, High School sweetheart, and wife of twenty-four years. In this union they had two beautiful daughters, Raevyn and Kyndal, whom they love with all their hearts. He also leaves to cherish his memories are his siblings, Angela Hopkins (Calvin), La Tara Palmer, Richard Palmer, and Cecil Palmer.

He was so loved by his family including, aunts, uncles, in-laws, cousins, classmates, nephews, nieces, and his brothers and sisters in Christ.
